

Every summer I go to stay at my grandad's house
by the sea. It's a pretty, old cottage, with bookshelves packed to the brim with interesting things from Grandad's travels, and lots of brilliant places to play hide and seek!

In the garden, Grandad grows all kinds of fruit and vegetables.

There's a big cherry tree, which if you shake just enough... Yum!

But my favourite thing to do at Grandad's house is snuggle up on the sofa and listen as Grandad tells me about all of the amazing places he and Gramps would explore.

"Your Gramps was quite the adventurer!"

He was tall and handsome,

and excellent at so many things...

tidiness was not one of them!
