

The sack race was fun. Miss Terry couldn't tell which was Topsy and which was Tim. They had pulled their sacks up over their heads.

Tony won the sack race by jumping all the way.

Topsy and Tim were twins. They were exactly the same size. They ran easily while the others struggled. “We’re going to win!” shouted Topsy and Tim. And so they did.

Mr Taylor presented golden medals to all the winners of the races. He gave Topsy and Tim each a medal, because they had won the three-legged race together.
